This is a title...

A Novel Method For Handwritten Digit Recognition System

What I learned

It is a data set of 60,000 small square 20*20 pixel gray scale images of handwritten single digits between 0 and 9

What I wonder

Simple institutions about how we recognize digit like those above. What seems easy when we do it ourselves suddenly become extremely difficult

What I Know

It is basically detects the scanned images of handwritten digits